

INST 301: Introduction to Information Systems
Quiz 1, February 2, 2016

This is a 5 minute quiz, starting promptly at 2:00 and ending promptly at 2:05. You may use any resources (Internet, readings, class notes, class slides) that existed before the start of this quiz. You may not communicate with any other person (including the instructor) during the quiz. If you have difficulty interpreting a question, briefly describe that difficulty and any assumptions that you have made to allow you to answer the question and we will consider what you have written when grading your quiz. Answer all questions. A maximum of 2 points are available.

0. (0 points) What is your name?

1. (1 point) In the chapter we read for session 2 (last Thursday), Toffler describes three “waves.” What innovation did Toffler describe as being the basis for his “Second Wave”?

2. (1 point) In the chapter we read for session 3 (today), Waldrop describes two places, other than ARPA and the computer science researchers that ARPA was funding, where the key ideas behind the ARPANET (such as splitting messages up into small parts) had previously been worked out. Name either one of them.

Hand write and sign the honor pledge on this quiz. (For reference, the honor pledge as stated at <http://www.umd.edu/catalog/index.cfm/show/content.section/c/27/ss/1583/s/1604>, is: “I pledge on my honor that I have not given or received any unauthorized assistance on this quiz.”)
