

Does the University of Maryland Acceptable Use Policy allow students to create a public Web site on which other students can post evaluations of their courses? Cite a specific passage from the policy to support your answers.