“When people thought the earth was flat, they were wrong. When people thought the earth was spherical, they were wrong. But if you think that thinking the earth is spherical is just as wrong as thinking the earth is flat, then your view is wronger than both of them put together.”

“There’s a key idea in the books that concerns a mathematical theory of human behaviour. ‘Psychohistory’...is like a kinetic theory of gases for human beings – gather enough of us together (and the starting premise of the books is that humanity has colonized the entire galaxy so there are lots of people) and the overall, en bloc behaviour becomes statistically predictable.”

“These definitions seem to get us closer to what makes Big data a new and interesting phenomenon in the world: it is not its volume alone, but the fact that we are able to “mine” large data sets using new and advanced techniques to uncover unexpected relationships, patterns and categories within these data sets, that makes the field potentially exciting.”

–Bennett B. Borden & Jason R. Baron, Finding the Signal in the Noise: Information Governance, Analytics, and the Future of Legal Practice, 20 Rich. J.L. & Tech. 7 (2014), <http://jolt.richmond.edu/v20i2/article7.pdf>

PSYCHOHISTORY (ASIMOV)

DESCRIPTIVE (UNDERSTANDING WHAT IS)

Galactic Empire is in decline, despite surface appearances

PREDICTIVE (WHAT WILL HAPPEN)

Galactic Empire will fall within a generation or two, followed by a 30,000 year period of anarchy (dark ages)

PRESCRIPTIVE (FUTURE COURSES OF ACTION)

By implementing certain courses of action, the dark ages can be reduced to a mere 1,000 years

Information Governance

An information governance task is chosen, e.g. risk or compliance

Millions of little pieces of information (documents) = BIG DATA

Thousands of authors

Documents are combined intelligently by system (=machine) to “paint a picture”

Users train the system by marking documents as relevant/nonrelevant

SwarmSketch

A topic or subject is chosen e.g. “giant squid”, “gas prices”

Millions of little line segments = BIG DATA

Thousands of authors

Line segments are combined intelligently by system (=humans) to paint a picture

Users train the system by marking line segments as relevant/nonrelevant

HURRICANES

METEORITES

STINGRAY

RICHARD PRYOR

BOEING 787

GIANT SQUID

Do all FCPA violations exhibit similar patterns?

Do all privacy violations exhibit similar patterns?

Do all instances of sexual harassment exhibit similar patterns?

MANAGING RELATIVITY OF WRONG

Big Data (Data Science) alone is not the answer.

“HCIR aims to empower people to explore large-scale information bases but demands that people also take responsibility for this control by expending cognitive and physical energy.” —Gary Marchionini

HCIR → HCI(ta)R

MANAGING RELATIVITY OF WRONG

HCI(ta)R

- no longer only deliver the relevant documents, but must also provide semantic information along with those documents
- increase user responsibility as well as control; that is, information systems require human intellectual effort
- aim to be part of information ecology of personal and shared memories and tools rather than discrete standalone services
- support the entire information life cycle (from creation to preservation) rather than only the dissemination or use phase
- support tuning by end users and especially by information professionals who add value to information resources

“Unless we make information governance someone’s job, its not going to happen.”

–Deb Logan, 11 January 2010

CONCLUSION

Relativity of Wrong

(“Everything is wrong. Some things are less wrong than others.”)

Generality vs Specificity

(“Generalization is always wrong”)

(3)

(“Gotta keep an eye on that wrongness”)
